Take The Next Step...

Petra's first studio release on Dayspring Records, entitled Beyond Belief, was shipped to retailers around the world on July 1st. The release of Beyond Belief heralds a new and more aggressive message from the band that has become known for its musical teachings about spiritual warfare. The message in Beyond Belief is different from past Petra records, in that it brings Christians face-to-face with spiritual truths in the decisions they have to make everyday in their walk with the Lord. Even the song titles,
"Beyond Belief", "Seen and Not Heard", "Creed", and "I Am on the Rock", indicate that this is a record that is going to offer practical help for the Christian who wants a more meaningful walk with Jesus Christ in their lives.

Beyond Belief

The music on Beyond Belief is a more innovative and mature step into a mainstream rock sound
than previous Petra projects.
John and Dino Elefante again produced this Petra record, but each of the band members were more personally involved in the production than in the past. The result is a record that truly portrays the heart of Petra, both lyrically and musically.

The song "Creed" may be the most innovative adaptation of a traditional Christian statement of belief ever attempted. It sets the historical statement of belief to a driving anthem that makes this universally-accepted creed real in the Christian life.

Jan Hammer, of "Miami Vice" fame joined Lawry for the three-day event.

"NAMM has given me a great opportunity to share Jesus with a lot of musicians. Some who are very succesful but find they are still trying to fill that void in their life," states Lawry.

Hammer, originally scheduled to appear for one day only signing autographs, got the itch to strap on a keyboard himself after hearing Lawry wailing away on one of the Lyncs. The result was a "super" jam session between Lawry and Hammer.

The song "Seen and Not Heard" is a challenge to the Christian to boldly live out his convictions as a witness to his faith, and the song
"Prayer" is a rare insight to the most personal feelings of the members of Petra about their ministry. The song, written by Bob Hartman, has become a gift from each of the band members to their families.

Beyond Belief was released by Dayspring Records with some of the most extensive and creative promotions ever implemented by the company. Since the record was a summer release, retail outlets were offered a supply of sports beverage bottles, imprinted
with the Beyond Belief medallion.
The first bottles were free to those among the first to buy the new record. Additional beverage bottles were available on a limited basis at selected retailers.
Christian radio stations in some of the country's major cities participated in the roll-out of Beyond Belief, with contests that included as prizes trips, CD players, and Beyond Belief records and videos.

Petra will be premiering the music from Beyond Belief, along with an entirely new stage production beginning in September. The Beyond Belief tour, projected to last through 1991, promises to be the most exciting and challenging in the band's 18-year history.

On Location... Beyond Belief

Petra spent the first two weeks of June filming music videos for the Beyond Belief Video Album, which will be a first of its kind in Christian music. The Beyond Belief Video Album is actually a mini-movie about a young Christian who is challenged to put his Christian beliefs on the line during his senior year in high school. The project goes on to incorporate videos of six songs from Petra's Beyond Belief album.

The video album is the first time for Christian music videos to be incorporated in a dramatic story format, and is an effort by Petra to make their music relevant in yet another way in the lives of Christians.

In the video, Chad is a typical Christian teenager who wants to get a track scholarship to the state university. His older brother, David, has coached him through the early season to improve his times. Their mother and father are recently-divorced, and Chad is struggling to come to grips with a relationship with his father. In the midst of all of this turmoil in Chad's life, his brother, David, learns he has cancer. With all of this happening, Chad struggles with the question, "What is his faith really worth?"

The music videos that help answer the questions Chad faces were filmed in Oregon, Arizona, Oklahoma, and Peru. The project took Petra from the Pacific coast, where they experienced 50' waves crashing around them, to a desert highway, to the impoverished streets of Lima, Peru, where they participated in real street evangelism as part of the project.

The filming of the video was made possible in large part due to the assistance of American Airlines, which transported Petra, film crew, and 2,000 lbs. of equipment over 8,000 miles. Petra wishes to thank American Airlines for their unprecedented support in making the Beyond Belief Video Album possible.

Beyond Belief Challenge

On Petra's new album BEYOND BELIEF, the band delivers one of it's most urgent messages in recent years. The very title BEYOND BELIEF suggests that serving Jesus does not just mean agreeing with doctrinal truths. Belief is the beginning of the Christian life, but it cannot be the end.

BEYOND BELIEF is a bold challenge to Christians not only to believe the Gospel of Christ, but to put it into practice. That means different choices among different Christians: For some it means ministry to AIDS victims, others hear God's call to help homeless people, others take a stand for human life, others wish to help those around the world who are trapped by poverty. Some do this through the monthly commitment of sponsoring a child, as Petra encourages it's audiences to do through Compassion International.

The songs on BEYOND BELIEF are not a call to a joyless spirituality of obligations and self-righteousness. Instead, they are an invitation to joyful, daily obedience to God's will and his liberating kingdom.

COMPASSION INTERNATIONAL

Possibly you feel a commitment to all those causes and can commit time to each. If that's so, a previous Petra album expresses it well: MORE POWER TO YA. Not only does Petra wish you well in any such effort--the Holy Spirit of God will bless any genuine desire to make the Gospel real in today's world.

The common thread in all these options is to move in the same compassionate, selfless spirit as the Lord Jesus.

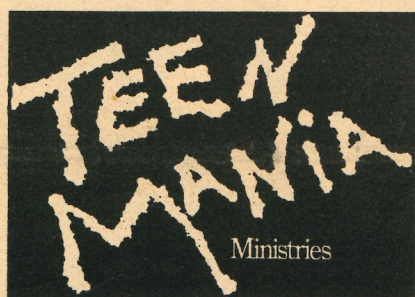

If you are looking for a way to move beyond belief, please consider joining Petra in helping children through Compassion. The cost is only $21 a month, which provides education, Christian training, health monitoring, whatever is needed most. Call 1-800-336-7676 for more information on how you can change on child's life through sponsorship.

Petra Teams with Teen Mania

During the February Fire By Night Youth conference, Petra met with Ron Luce, Director of Teen Mania Youth Mission Program.

Teen Mania annually sponsors two-to-four week mission trips for teenagers from all areas of the United States. During the meeting, the members of Petra agreed to become spokesmen, encouraging teens to put their faith in action by participating in summer Teen Mania Missions Programs. Petra travelled to Lima, Peru in July with Teen Mania, filming footage for the Beyond Belief Video Album. Some of the footage will also be used over the next year in promoting Teen Mania programs for the summer of 1991.

Teen Mania missions projects are directed at areas in the Caribbean and Central and South America. Over 800 teenagers have participated in Teen Mania projects during the summer of 1990 with Teen Mania's emphasis being on evangelism, and allowing teams of teens to learn to communicate the Gospel through drama. They perform daily on the streets of their host country, and follow up with Bible teaching and referrals to local churches.

Petra will have information on Teen Mania Missions programs available at their concerts throughout the rest of 1990 and the spring of '91. For more information on Teen Mania, contact Ron Luce; Teen Mania Ministries; P.O. Box 700721 Tulsa, OK 74170-0721.

Dove Award Telecast Features PETRA

During TNN's live telecast of the Dove Awards in April, Petra performed "I Love the Lord" from the band's Petra Praise project. In performing, Petra represented the rock style of Christian music among the other styles also showcased on the telecast. Petra's performance from the Dove Award's show was also used in the opening segment of Entertainment Tonight the following week. Entertainment Tonight did a complete report on the Dove Award show and Gospel music, featuring several clips from the TNN telecast.

In February of this year, Petra participated in the annual Fire By Night Youth Leaders Conference in Tulsa, OK. Over 1,200 youth leaders from across the country, Canada, Australia, and Europe came together for workshops on innovative ideas in youth ministry.

The conference, directed by Fire By Night video program host Blaine Bartel, allowed the members of Petra to answer questions from the conference participants for over an hour and a half! Each of the band members gave their testimony in response to moderator Bartel's urging that youth leaders need to know where Christian musicians are spiritually. Most of the questions posed by the audience were about the Petra Praise project, as most youth leaders had integrated at least some of the choruses from Petra Praise into their youth worship services. Some groups reported using the actual tracks available from Petra Praise, while others had encouraged their own praise bands to learn the Petra arrangements. The band received a standing ovation during their segment for their efforts in creating the Petra Praise project.

As an added bonus to the Fire By Night conference, all 1,200-plus participants were bused to Tulsa's Mabee Center at Oral Roberts University, to attend the Petra/Josh McDowell Who Do You Listen To? event. In all, there were over 4,500 in attendance that night. For more information on the Fire By Night Youth Leaders Conference in 1991, or how you or your church can receive Fire By Night videos, contact Blaine Bartel at Fire By Night; P.O. Box 639; Broken Arrow, OK 74013.

Dove Award Presented for ON FIRE! Video

The Dove Awards are presented annually by the Gospel Music Association to Christian musicians based upon voting by the membership of the GMA. This year's awards were presented during a live telecast on The Nashville Network April 4th. Petra received a Dove Award for the On Fire! Video Event in the Long Form Video category. The Petra Praise album also received a Dove Award for its packaging concept and photography.

Petra would like to thank members of the GMA for their recognition of Petra's efforts on these two projects. We hope the On Fire! Video Event and Petra Praise each continue to be effective tools for youth groups around the country.

Beyond Belief Premiered

During GMA Week in Nashville, Dayspring Records hosted a premiere listening party of Petra's album, Beyond Belief. Over 150 radio station programmers and managers, concert promoters, and music industry personnel attended the party, highlighted by John Schlitt's emotional introduction of the first single, "Prayer". John related that "Prayer" has become his personal testimony about his life and love for the ministry of Petra.

Charisma Magazine, which in their annual Music Poll, has voted Petra their Favorite Christian Group for the last 5 years, will be filming their 15th Anniversary TV special September 1st in Winter Park, Florida. The special, set to air on TBN in early Fall, will feature a performance by Petra. At press time, other artists invited included Sandi Patti and Amy Grant. Be sure to check your local listings on TBN for time and date of this anniversary special.

Courts Rule School Bible Club OK

Former student Bridget Mergens Mayhew sought to start a Bible club at Westside High School in Omaha. When school officials refused, citing the First Amendment's bar against "establishment of religion" she took the case to court.

In June of this year, the Supreme Court ruled by an 8-1 vote, that such clubs should have access to high schools that get federal funds, and be allowed to meet on school premises. The ruling was a landmark in church-state relations.

A delighted Mayhew said the court sent a message: "Religious students are not second-class citizens."

Petra/Josh McDowell Tour Rolls Into Fall: New Record/Video Album

Three years ago, Josh McDowell was looking for a recognized Christian band to endorse his newly-designed "Why Wait?" material, a package encouraging teens to wait for sex until marriage.

A call to Petra, asking if they'd mind doing an endorsement for "Why Wait?" while they were on tour in California was just the beginning. Little did either side know the far reaching effects this combination would have. Both in concert attendance and in spiritual response.

The Josh McDowell/Petra "Who Do You Listen To? Sex in the age of Aids" tour continues to roll into 1990. Response has been overwhelming.

"I've never been on a more exciting tour," comments lead singer John Schlitt. "Especially in terms of seeing spiritual commitment in kids.

The fall leg of the Who Do You Listen To? tour will still include Petra's performance of the title song from the movie, songs from the Petra Praise album, plus new cuts from the Petra Beyond Belief album.

With a new 50-minute "Beyond Belief Video Album", having been released in August, Petra shows no signs of slowing down. The fall tour will surely be "Beyond Belief".

Campus Life / CCM Award Petra #1 Honors

The January issue of Campus Life magazine, featured PETRA on the cover, naming them "Best Band" for the third year straight. A four-color photo of Petra was also featured on the inside centerfold.

Campus Life readers mailed in their survey, printed in the September '89 issue, and rated their top artists in three categories: Male Artist of the Year; Band of the Year; and Female Artist of the Year.

In other reader polls, CCM magazine ran "The 1989 CCM Reader's Choice Awards" naming PETRA #1 Favorite Band. Guitarist and songwriter Bob Hartman took top honors in the Favorite Songwriter category, with drummer Louie Weaver taking top honors as the Favorite Drummer.

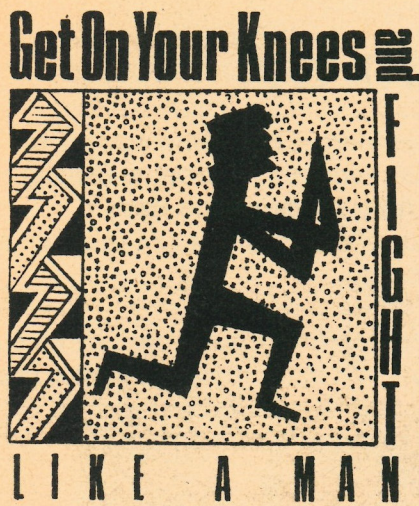

John Lawry and John Schlitt went on to take #2 honors in the Favorite Keyboard Player and Favorite Male Rock Vocalist categories, respectively. In addition, Ronny Cates grabbed the #3 spot for Favorite Bass Player and Bob Hartman bagged #3 for Favorite Guitar Player. ON FIRE! took second place honors for Favorite Rock Album.

Sweeden/Ireland Concerts On Tap For Fall

October will find Petra overseas! Petra will perform at the Globe Festival in Stockholm, Sweeden, along with the bands first ever concert in Ireland. The northern town of Belfast will be host to it's first Petra concert, giving the band an opportunity to minister to the strife-torn country.

Ireland is generally seen in the news as an area plaued by violence, where the struggle for political power is often fought in the streets. Sources in the Christian community there have been encouraged by recent events which seem to indicate a growing number of people are committing themselves to Christ.

The Petra Prayer Warrior Campaign continues to grow, adding individual Prayer Warriors and Prayer Warrior groups. Each has committed themselves to pray for the ministry of Petra, and according to I Timothy 2:1-3, praying for leaders, the lost, and the body of Christ.

The members of Petra have been very encouraged the last few months with the number of letters they have received from both individual Prayer Warriors and Prayer Warrior Groups. We would like to share with you portions of some of them:

"She realized once again that a war was truly being waged--a spiritual battle!"

--Prayer Warrior Laurie Rockey from Chicago, IL took her 60-year-old mother to the April 7th concert at the Rosemont Horizon and her mom loved it! She didn't sit down the entire time!

--Prayer Warrior Stephen Scott from Tulsa, OK writes that because of praying 5 minutes daily for Petra he has found himself praying for other things in his life and other people, too. Prayer is now a regular part of his quiet time.

--Brandy from Tampa, FL says she used the On Fire! tape to work out, and she has lost 40 lbs. in 5 months. The song lyrics to "Hit You Where You Live" were instrumental in encouraging her.

--Adrian of Longview, WA is a mother of two, ages 8 and 10. She reports that her sons go to sleep and clean their rooms with Petra's music playing. She's praying for the ministry and especially the Petra families.

Two letters came in the last few weeks that were especially interesting. Hope of Mt. Clemens, MI received a heart irregularity healing at the April 7th concert in Chicago. While she was singing "We Exalt Thee" and worshipping Jesus, she said she felt "a hot, tingling sensation flow through her chest." When she went to the doctor for extensive tests, he reported her heart in excellent condition.

open heart surgery to be done this past April. Please remember Jenna in your prayers.

Two other interesting letters we'd like to share came from Prayer Warrior Groups: --Jennifer and Janice of Warrenton, MO were surprised by a phone call from John Schlitt in December. He was calling about their Prayer Warrior Group and partner group. Janice wrote growth and development of his group. They even have a room at college called "the Prayer Warrior room". Everyday the group prays for something different concerning Petra's ministry. The group has grown from just 5 to more than 30. He's asking Prayer Warriors everywhere to join with them in prayer for South Africa.

Petra receives many encouraging letters every day, but they also receive many letters from teens who are troubled, hurting, and looking for answers. Petra would appreciate their Prayer Warriors making a special effort to pray in the next few months for the young people everywhere who are discouraged, depressed, plagued with family problems, personal problems, and spiritual problems.

Ask God to pour out His Spirit on young people all over the world giving them a saving revelation of Jesus Christ. Ask for special protection over them and the Holy Spirit to guide them into truth so that they can grow and mature in Christ.

Another exciting development in Petra's Prayer Warrior Campaign has been the opportunity the last few months for the members of Petra to meet with Prayer Warrior Groups at concerts all over the country. The guys have enjoyed talking and sharing with each one.

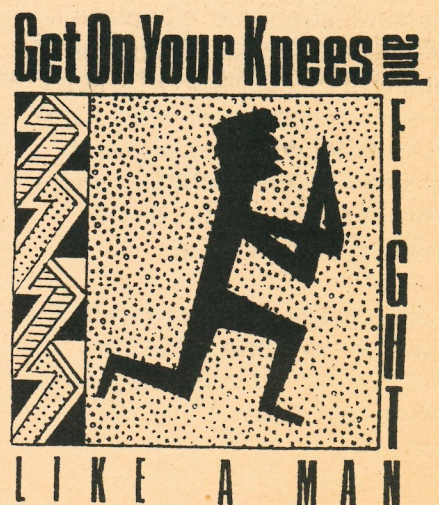

The Lord has truly blessed the ministry of Petra. The members of the band are extremely grateful for the prayer support they have had from their Prayer Warriors. If you or your group are interested in knowing more about the Prayer Warrior Campaign, just write to us for information: Petra Prayer Warriors; P. O. Box 190; Nashville, TN 37202. Also remember the Petra Prayer Warrior Update Line is available for hearing Petra's current prayer needs and concert information. Just call 1-800-791-1509.

Eight year old Jenna's mother wrote to tell us that her daughter chose the "This Means War!" tape to be played during her heart surgery. Jenna was undergoing surgery in adjoining rooms numbered 666 and 667. She realized once again that a war was truly being waged--a spiritual battle. There were many people in that room with Jenna. What a witness for Jesus! The results of the surgery revealed Jenna needed their partner group in Australia about the call, and on January 4th, they received a call from their Australian partner group leader, Phillip. What a surprise! He was awed by the fact that there are people across the world praying for him and his friends. Jennifer wants Petra to know that Australia is praying for Petra and so is Missouri!

--Chris Timm of Johannesburg, South Africa is excited about the Letters...

I am a 17-year-old Korean-American Christian. You are my favorite group of Christian ministers. About two months ago, my Bible Study had a lock-in. This Bible Study is a "club" in a public school. We are restricted to many so-called "precautions". Our school, New Trier High School in Winnetka, IL, is said to be the richest school in the world (richest in statutes). Our school is also, according to Oprah Winfrey (television spokesperson), the #1 Satan-worshipping school in the nation. What I see around the school supports this accusation and statement. However, despite all the worldly desires of money, sex and drugs that our school is popular for, a Bible Study exists (totally student-run). Students have grown to know Christ through this God-given Bible Study.

The lock-in I mentioned earlier had the Holy Spirit in every single soul that afternoon and night and following morning. 50 people said that the lock-in was powerful, uplifting, and totally awesome. We didn't have a guest speaker, we didn't have enough time to ask for one or to write to someone. Instead, we used the Petra On Fire Video Event. The games we played, like the seduction simulation, were awesome. It got the guys and gals involved, and pumped up. The discussions we had, led by three student leaders, were applicable to our lifestyles and problems. Thank you Petra for working for the Lord!

P.S. If you noticed in your last Chicago concert at the Rosemont Horizon that there were a large number of Oriental teens in the first few rows (center) then you have seen some of the people in our school Bible Study.

David Lee
Chicago, ILL

Dear Petra,

Hi from Brazil! I'm an MK, and I've been living in Brazil for about 16 years. I'm in 10th grade, and I've been listening to your music for about 3 years now, and enjoying it greatly. Recently, my family moved to a new location, and as a result I'm now at a boarding school. That's where my problems started. The people running the school and the dorms seem to feel that any sort of rock music is evil (or at least they're afraid it's going to affect the kids adversely in some way).

They won't let us listen to anything "faster" than Sandi Patti or Steve Green. The reason I'm writing you is because sometimes I'm at loss as to how to answer some of their remarks about Christian rock, so I'd be very interested in your reply to some of the questions below.

Firstly, the beat itself. Most controversy centers around the beat. How do you know that the beat itself is not evil? Also, I've heard of tests being done that supposedly show how the beat can effect humans (and even animals) in ways that are immoral, or at least displeasing to God in one way or another. What can you say about this aspect of your music as a Christian?

Secondly, can you say without any doubt in your mind that GOD has called you to the work you do? Have you seen real, widespread results of your ministry, especially during concerts? How can I know that Petra and other bands are not in the business under a "Christian" name simply because it's an area where there's a market for money - that you guys aren't just out to get money and fame? Can you vouch for other Christian groups, such as Stryper, White Heart, Shout, etc.? Have you ever had reason to suspect any Christian group as being fake?

Thirdly, what about hairstyles, music style, and the manner in which your concerts are performed in relation to the commonly-cited "do not conform yourselves to the pattern of this world" verse? Sometimes I, myself, wonder about groups like Stryper.

Someday I'd like to see one of your concerts. (I almost got to go to D.C. '88, but it didn't work out.) One other thing - if it's free, I would very much be interested in getting your newsletter! Keep up the good word!

Thanx so much for your time.

In Christ,
Mark Navratil

Dear Mark,

Thanks for your letter. It sounds like you've really been questioning the motives and value of Christian music and musicians.

I can only speak for myself, and as a representative of Petra to the questions you asked. Let me try to answer each:

1. The beat of music is neither evil nor good in itself. The style of music or beat is only a medium for the message. It is the spirit behind the music that is important. What is the purpose of the music? Is it to point the way to God, giving Him glory, or encouraging the listener? Or is the purpose to draw inappropriate attention to the things of the flesh and destructive to the body, soul, or spirit of man?

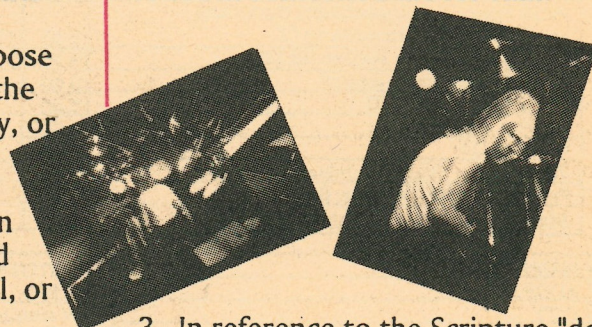

God made us spirit, soul, and body. Our spirits can be ministered to and strengthened while we "enjoy" music. In fact, the Psalms are full of verses that encourage us to worship God with ALL our being: shout for joy (Ps. 5:11), clap our hands (Ps. 47:1), sing a new song (Ps. 149:1), and with the dance (Ps. 149:3) to give just a few.

Although we are not to be ruled by our emotions, God wants us to be able to express our love to Him through them -- to release our joy unto Him in praise and worship. He has given us the ability to respond to rhythm. Why wouldn't He want it used in giving Him glory? We get excited about football games. Why can't we get excited about God? Satan is the one who has stolen and perverted music. He delights in keeping God's children bound up and in fear.

2. Anyone who listens to Petra's music has no doubt about their message. It is Christ-centered. People either respond positively because they love Jesus or are being drawn by the Holy Spirit to Him or they are repulsed by it (2Cor. 2:14-17). We can only do what God has put into our hearts to do -- He does the work in the heart of the listener.

We receive thousands of letters every year sharing what God has done for them through Petra's ministry. Sometimes it is truly a miraculous testimony and other times they merely tell us what an encouragement the music is to them. Each is important to us and confirms to us our calling. The sacrifice of being away from our families for weeks while we tour is great, but there is nothing like the knowledge that God is using you to touch someone's life for Him.

3. In reference to the Scripture "do not conform yourselves to the pattern of this world", I would respond we don't. Our message and personal lifestyles are uncompromising. In order to reach young people, you have to be able to relate to them. Paul spoke about this in 1Cor. 9:19-22.

Thanks again for your letter. We're glad you came to us with your questions. If there is anything else we can do for you, please let us know. I hope this has helped you.

God bless you, Mark.
